Christ's Message Unheeded.

Christ's natal day message: "Peace on earth, good will to men," has had its nineteen hundredth anniversal repetition, and wars go on.

We are fighting the Filipinos for standing out for independence. Great Britain is slaughtering the Boers and burning their farms and homes because they are defending the right to govern themselves. China is an armed camp in which the leading nations of Christendom are intrenched and alert to fly at the throats of the heathen if their demands are not complied with.

Contemplating this spectacle, Rev. Dr. Theodore L. Cuyler, in the New York Evening Post, exclaims: "What a Christmas to end the nineteenth century! The angels' song of peace on earth drowned by the roar of guns and the wails of the wounded! The foremost nation of Europe butchering in South Africa fellow Christians who are repeating the history of Thermopylae! Christian Americans butchering a people to whom they were three years ago utter strangers and who never had a thought to harm us."

The relaerable difficulty in expressing prefer- tive proportion of the two races in Missouri will only be determined by the complete reports from the census office. It may be safely predicted, however, that this report will not show an increase in the negro population of the State at all in proportion to the white population. The counties where the negro population is the largestthose where the descendents of the old slave-holders are in the majority-do not show the marked increase which is shown in counties where there are tion of BALLARD'S HOREHOUND Coughs, Colds, and all Throat and Lung very few or no negroes. Astounding cures result from a rule, show nearly such a percentage as do the countles of the extreme southeast and southwest. This relative increase would suggest that the black in the State had failed to increase as largely as the white race. There are other indications. The negro school population in many towns has not grown in the last ten years. The enumeration is about the same. The schools have no larger enrollment. Even in the black belt of the south there is much the same situation. In Mississippi, for example, the highest percentage of increase is in the socalled white counties.

It may be that the negro problem will finally solve itself by the elimination or absorption of the negro. The census statistics will be an indication of the probabilities .- Missouri State
